From the Pastor November 2018

I am at the point of life when I begin to think about a legacy. Someday, when I'm gone, what will I leave behind?

A recent visit with the lawyer provided the opportunity to update my will. He had told me it's a good idea to update it every five years or so. So I reviewed a previous version and decided to delete a few bequests. Having acquired a large collection of jazz LP's, I once thought of leaving them to my college library. But they are LP records – who listens to them? And upon sampling a few recently, I was reminded of how many scratches were on them. No need to give to somebody else a gift that has no value!

What about my books? Not much better, I'm afraid. Over thirty five years of acquisition, there are some gems. But I spent four summer days in Virginia Miner's attic, boxing up the library that she left behind after her passing last winter. I discovered the bitter truth: her books are now worth pennies on the dollar. Nobody is buying that thick Bible commentary that cost $65 per volume, which was a hard word to share with Virginia's family. When I reflect on it, it is her lessons of courage, clarity, and fierce friendship which are her legacy to me.

What will we leave behind? Plenty, I'm sure. When my mother-in-law passed away last month, she left some exquisite glassware. It's tinted red, and has been a family treasure for many years. As we quickly discovered, we have lots of glassware in the cupboard and little room for any more. Our kids don't value it, the antique dealers wouldn't take it. For the time being, it is a reminder of Loraine's life and love. Yet the truth is, her life and love have shaped our family in more dramatic and less tangible ways, creating in our family the ability to love without hesitation. She would be proud of that legacy.

What will I leave behind? Fragments of used sermons may linger in the air, but not for long. They evaporate like perfume or other odors. I have two cabinets full of old manuscripts (and three CD-R's), yet there are no requests for back copies. Sermons are situational engagements with scripture, set in a time and place. The old sermon with the Pee Wee Herman illustration wouldn't work so well these days. The Murphy Brown anecdote doesn't hold up to a reprise.

We hang onto our worldly goods a lot longer than they are useful. Our work has been useful in its time, but the legacy will be in the impact our work has made on others. That is difficult to measure. But it is the desire to make a contribution, somehow, that will be our lasting legacy. So I'm giving some thought about what kind of contribution I might make to this church that I love. Believe me, I have no intent of checking out early, but I want to ensure that my wishes will continue. So I've made a provision for our congregation in my will: ten percent of my residual estate. I believe in this church and want its future to be strong. I can't think of a better legacy.

Like I said, at 58, I'm thinking about these things. I want to do something about them while I can. How about you?

With you in the journey,

Rev. Bill Carter

Book Group: Nov. 29 @ Gilbert home*Stay: Lessons My Dog Taught Me About Life, Loss, and Grace

by Dave Burchett

Dave Burchett has written a truly wonderful book. I don't know when I've shed so many tears, laughed so much, and been moved as deeply. It's not just because I'm a lover of dogs (I am), but because this book is profound, refreshing, biblical, and true. It "smells like Jesus!" Read it and give it to everyone you know. They will rise up and call you blessed. (Steve Brown, Founder of Key Life Network)

When you're in a fierce battle against breast cancer, be on the lookout for people—or pets—through whom God delivers His most heartwarming encouragement. My friend Joni Burchett was in the cancer battle for her life, but God blessed her with His warm, personal touch through the pawprints of her Labrador retriever, Hannah. But this isn't any "dog story." This is a book filled with courage, yet tenderness; bravery, yet gentleness. I highly recommend Stay to anyone who is looking for a fresh and unusual touch from the Lord! (Joni Eareckson Tada, Founder of Joni and Friends International Disability Center)

You can count on one opposable thumb how many books hold my interest. But Dave Burchett has written an incredible piece that describes what we've been trying to model to you all about God's grace, His astonishing love, and what life feels like when humans discover who He's remade them to be, even on their worst day. And the pages smell like a freshly cut lawn. I gotta get my master to read this!

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN CIRCLE BIBLE STUDIES

Do you get discouraged, at times, while living for God? We will read in Deuteronomy 31:6-8, Joshua 1:9 and Haggai 2:4 how God helped His OT people. These texts remind us that He will help us also.

In our November Bible Study "God with us in Our Discouragement," we will focus on God's promise "I am with you," to give us courage, strength, boldness and hope, when on our own we would lose heart. Along with Moses, Aaron, Caleb, and Joshua we will discuss our woman of interest, Miriam.

You definitely won't want to miss the story of the Arlington Presbyterian Church in Arlington, VA. and you certainly will be thinking and singing "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah" for weeks to come afterwards. We will look forward to seeing you again at our November 20 Circle Bible Study at the church. The times are still 10:00 a.m. for Dorcas and Priscilla Circles and 7:00 p.m. for Eunice Circle.

If you need a ride please call Barbara Pittman at 570-587-2050 and Bonnie Plantholt at 570-212-1566 for 10:00 a.m. and Kate Hopkins at 570-587-2390 and Barbara Mellander at 570-587-5236 for 7:00 p.m.

National Donor Sabbath 2018 will be celebrated on November 9 – 11. It seeks to educate faith-based communities about the need for organ and tissue donors. This national initiative partners with houses of worship to educate congregations about the critical need for donors and to dispel myths about the donation process. All major religions support organ and tissue donation.

The 201st Presbyterian General Assembly in 1989 approved the Overture presented by the Presbytery of Grace to endorse the donation of organs and tissues in keeping with Christian faith and stewardship and as a part of our ministry to others in the name of Christ, who gave His life for us. You can read the complete Overture on the November Mission & Justice bulletin board in the narthex.

The need for organ and tissue donation remains enormous. In Gift of Life's service area – eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey, and Delaware – 5,400 men, women, and children are waiting for life-saving organ transplants. Just one organ donor can give the gift of life to up to eight people, and one tissue donor can benefit as many as 75 others.

There is no set age limit for organ and tissue donation. At the time of death, trained medical professionals will evaluate patients on a case-by-case basis to determine if a donor is medically suitable for donation. Therefore, people of any age wishing to become a donor should indicate it on their driver's license and inform their family of their wishes.

Mission and Justice

On November 11 we will be having our annual Alternative Gift Market after the Worship Service at 10 a.m., and after the All Church Choir Concert at 4 p.m. Please join us for a creative and meaningful shopping experience that will help a variety of people both in our country and around the world.

Whether you buy paintings from Haiti, fair trade coffee, crafts or jewelry from distant countries, a heifer to assist a needy family, a bed for a Ugandan Pygmy family, or delicious candy that contributes to Appalachian Service Project, there will be plenty of choices for gifts for your loved ones. Consider giving a gift this year that is more than "stuff", and help make a difference in someone's life.

Thanks to the generosity of this congregation, $1,410 has been donated toward the Peace & Global Witness Offering, 2018.

That means that $352, or ¼ of the total will be sent to the Florence Immigrant & Refugee Rights Project, while the remainder will be sent to the Presbyterian Mission Agency for peacemaking efforts in the US and around the world.

Thank you again for your participation in this important mission as we strive to offer the peace of Christ at all times and in all ways.

The Mission & Justice Committee is sponsoring another trip to help CEO Weinberg NE Regional Food Bank distribute Thanksgiving meals to hungry families in Northeast PA. Last year they distributed Thanksgiving meals to over 9,000 families between their Wilkes-Barre, Hazelton, and Tunkhannock sites. We will volunteer from 9 A.M. – 12 P.M. on Saturday, November 17, 2018 at the old Sears location at the Wyoming Valley Mall. We will meet at the church at 8 A.M. to carpool to Wilkes-Barre. If interested in participating, please call Diane Scheuer at 570-362-3276 or email divinends@gmail.com.

Supper 5:00 Classes 6:15

IMPORTANT DATE:*Wednesday, November 21 - No WAY Classes. Have a great Thanksgiving!Classes for Children and Youth:

Grace & Faith (4 years old - Grade 5) experience Bible stories through our new curriculum Growing in Grace & Gratitude. This fall is all about action verbs — God is at work in the world, and children will learn about the amazing things He has done. In November, we will learn how God Speaks in Stillness, God Calls Jeremiah, and God hears Daniel's Prayer.

We Believe (Grades 6 and up): This fall, students will explore a unit called Knowing God, answering questions about who God is and who we are as Christians. In November, we will answer: How can God be known? Does God love everyone — even the devil? And, Does God ever get angry?

Wednesday Classes for Adults*October 31, November 7, 14: Alive to Beauty: A Summons

God is constantly seeking to be in touch with us. He speaks to us through beauty. We will reflect on paintings that call us to a sense of awe and wonder, awakening us to prayer, reverence, transcendence. We will be guided by Sister Cor Immaculatum Heffernan, Professor Emerita of Art at Marywood University.

November 7, 14: Ministry Entrusted to Us: 2 Corinthians*Bill Carter

Why is serving God such difficult work? Not for you, perhaps, but it was for the apostle Paul. We will explore some painful correspondence that he had with one of his churches and explore why he never "lost heart."

November 28, December 5, 12, 19: Advent Parables*Brent Eelman, Charlie Pinches, Bill Carter

In our Advent Bible study, we will encounter four of Jesus' parables on the surprising arrival of God's kingdom. What is it like when God "breaks into" our world?

Note: This weekly program will not meet on November 21 (Thanksgiving Eve) or December 26 (Christmas break).

Holiday Pajama Drive

We will again be working with several local Head Start Centers to provide PJ's for approximately 90 children. Kick off will be in November.... Look for our tree with tag information in the Narthex

New To Our Library!

“Let’s All Be Brave: Living Life with Everything You Have”

by Annie F. Downs

When I began to read this book, I was concerned that it was not going to be for me. First, the author is younger and our lives are very dissimilar. Secondly, I worried that her idea of bravery might be too intense for me. I am not contemplating skydiving any time soon, nor will I be moving to another country. I have too many responsibilities for that kind of “bravery” to make any sense. I soon found, that Ms. Downs is not talking about those types of risks. Honestly, she was at one time even more averse to risk than I am. What she is talking about is the type of bravery that allows us to make necessary changes in our lives, and to fulfill our purpose through our passions.

Too often we listen to the dialog (internal and external) that reminds us of all the things we cannot do and be. Those are not God’s words, though, as Ms. Downs reminds us. This book is a good reminder that we have all the support we need to do what we need to do.
